

COMPANY POLICY INTEGRATED ENVIRONMENT, SAFETY AND ENERGY

Centrality of man and of environment is for FORGIATURA MORANDINI one of the first priorities on which the right and effective development of their entrepreneurial activities has to be based. FORGIATURA MORANDINI recognize the fundamental importance of running their business with spirit of innovation, assuring their utmost commitment to prevent pollution, the energy saving and costs and to safeguard health and security of their employees and of anyone who is directly or indirectly involved in their Organization.

FORGIATURA MORANDINI has hence chosen to implement an integrated management system according to UNI ISO 45001:2018, UNI EN ISO 14001:2015 and UNI CEI EN ISO 50001:2018, considering it as an integral part of the Organization's scopes and as a strategic factor of their operability.

Under this point of view FORGIATURA MORANDINI, besides guaranteeing the full respect of the legal provisions and other applicable provisions, commit to:

- Identify and adopt processes, technologies and surveillance and control systems that can reduce the risks to the environment, the operators and energy consumption, by promoting the prevention of accidents and the possible effects on the environment, health and for energy consumption, with the aim of continuous improvement of company performance;
- involve all the Organization's operators more and more significantly, such to achieve a better consciousness of the importance of their own role in the correct management of the production processes and in the concomitant improvement of their environment and working conditions;
- constantly increase, through specific information and training programmes for the personnel, the competence and assumption of responsibility of executives, persons in charge and all employees;
- to promote the economic, environmental and energy sustainability of its activities, considering the improvement of company performance in the design of new plants and equipment and through the supply of efficient products and services;
- promote the concept of environment, energy and health protection and safety at the work places also to suppliers and contractors who operate as third parties on behalf of the Organization, developing the activities of cooperation and coordination and requesting to improve the routine procedures coherently with the statements and commitments of the Organization;
- communicate and cooperate always openly and transparently with the employees' representatives, interested third parties and inspection authorities;
- carry out innovation and improvement programs as well as adequate prevention and protection measures with the aim to significantly reduce the number of accidents at work and continuously improve the environmental performance and energy, providing for making available adequate human and financial resources.

The integrated company policy is a reference point to set and reassess the scopes and aims of SGI-ASE Management System; it is transmitted to the internal personnel and to the persons who work on behalf of the Organization, and it is available to the interested parties.
